Travel and Expense Reimbursement Policy

Business travel, expense claims and approval workflow

DEMO DATA NOTICE
Fictional policy content created solely for the SecureRAG portfolio project. All names, email addresses, procedures and monetary limits are synthetic examples. Do not treat this document as a real employer policy.

1. Purpose and scope

This fictional policy defines sample rules for business travel and employee expense reimbursement at TechNova Solutions. Amounts are illustrative and are not real company entitlements.

2. Pre-approval

All overnight business travel and any single expense expected to exceed INR 5,000 require manager approval before booking or purchase.

Travel requests should include business purpose, destination, dates, estimated cost and project or cost centre. Finance may return incomplete requests.

3. Eligible expenses

Reasonable business travel costs may include economy-class transport, standard accommodation, local transport, meals during approved travel and necessary work-related communication costs.

Personal shopping, traffic fines, minibar charges, entertainment unrelated to business and expenses for accompanying family members are not reimbursable.

4. Illustrative expense limits

Meals: up to INR 1,200 per travel day with itemized receipts.

Local transport: actual reasonable cost with receipt where available.

Accommodation: up to INR 4,500 per night, unless a manager approves an exception in advance.

These limits are fictional sample values for document retrieval demonstrations.

5. Submitting a claim

Submit claims through the expense portal within 15 calendar days after the trip ends. Attach itemized receipts and the approved travel request.

Claims should state the date, vendor, amount, currency, business purpose and cost centre. If a receipt is unavailable, provide an explanation; Finance may request additional evidence.

6. Review and payment

The manager reviews business purpose and budget. Finance checks policy compliance and supporting documents. Approved claims are normally included in the next monthly reimbursement cycle.

Employees must not split one purchase into multiple claims to avoid an approval threshold. Suspected duplicate or inaccurate claims may be referred to Finance for review.

7. Contact

For reimbursement questions, contact finance@technova.example. For travel approval, contact your reporting manager.
